Living and/or Learning Communities, LLC

1. Tutoring on location in the Living Community
2. Enrollment in common courses or all Scholars in one section of the same course can both be effective.
3. Multi-semester learning communities.
4. Two-year campuses and commuter schools have very different challenges than the residential campuses.
5. Uneven math preparation can be a challenge.
6. To be effective the Registrar's Office needs to be your friend.

Mentoring

1. Training for both peer- and faculty-mentors.
2. Each first-year Scholar needs to have a Faculty Champion/Advisor.
3. Peer mentors can show incoming Scholars the services available and Scholars often prefer to talk to another student.
4. Hard for the students and the faculty to find the time to schedule all the meetings if you over-program your mentoring plan.
